WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA

The names in WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA are selected not as the best but as an attempt to choose the best known men and women of the country in all lines of useful and reputable achievements.

NOTICE

WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA is thoroughly revised, brought down, and reissued biennially. The next edition, (Vol. 16) will be for the years 1930-1931 and will be issued in 1930.

WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA aims to give a brief, crisp personal sketch of every living American whose position or achievements make his personality of general interest, and tells just the things every intelligent person wants to know about those who are most conspicuous in every reputable walk of life.

A valuable feature of the book will be found in the address appended to each sketch. No other work has ever attempted the difficult task of finding and furnishing the addresses of leading Americans in all parts of the world. Thus, the book possesses not only the best attributes of a Biographical Dictionary, but is also a handy Directory of those living people of America in whom almost everybody is interested.

PREFACE

The fifteenth biennial edition of WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA—the edition for 1928-29—is presented with the assurance that it is the most comprehensive biographical reference book pertaining to leading living Americans that has ever been published. No other book has covered the biographical field of the United States in such a complete and authentic way. A cursory examination of these pages will convince the seeker for information that this volume marks a noteworthy advance over its predecessors, not only in the inclusion of worthy names, but also in the presentation of valuable data not previously obtainable. Here are concise up-to-date biographies of 28,805 living men and women who have in some notable way become subjects of wide inquiry or of general interest—a net increase of 1,890 biographies over the edition for 1926-27. It should be stated, however, that 3,931 of the personal sketches in this volume have appeared in no previous edition. The apparent discrepancy between the net increase (1,890) and the number of new sketches (3,931) is accounted for in the death-roll for the biennium and other necessary deletions.

During the two years which have elapsed since the publication of the previous edition, 1,325 members of the "Who's Who" family, or about 650 each year, were taken by death. The omissions for other reasons, such as retirement from public office or notable private or public enterprise, when official position was the only ground for inclusion, number 716, or a total number of omissions for all reasons of 2,041.

A few sketches have been omitted from the present volume because repeated requests for revision and verification of personal data failed to elicit any response, and present addresses could not be ascertained. An asterisk (*) following a cross reference indicates that the omission was made because the sketch could not be verified. Cross references to the omitted sketches (for Vol. 1914-1915 to Vol. 1926-1927), of persons still living, have been retained, and seekers for information are referred to previous editions for the latest available data.

The subject of every sketch in the book was given an opportunity, at the latest possible moment before going to press, to revise and bring the record to date, and there is scarcely a sketch which was not altered or amended in one or more particulars. It is believed that in this way the highest attainable degree of accuracy has been secured.

The book in the new form and new dress, first adopted for the 1926-1927 edition, has met with general and enthusiastic approval, and letters of congratulation have come from all parts of the world. The publishers wish to express their appreciation of these helpful letters, and to give assurance that WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA will continue to appear in its new and improved form.

WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA "began to be" away back in the nineties, and the first edition became a reality in 1899. Since then a new edition, carefully revised and considerably enlarged, has appeared every two years. The initial volume, containing 827 pages, grew into a goodly volume of 3,712 pages (of the original size) in 1924. The new form of the book was adopted, as previously stated, for the years 1926-27, and with its greatly enlarged page and closer-fitting type, the volume contained 1,558 additional sketches within 2,271 pages, whereas the present edition, with the continuation of the new form, contains 2,488 pages, or an increase of 217 pages over the previous edition.

NOV 1 1928

The first edition (1899-1900) contained 8,602 biographies, whereas the present edition contains more than three times that number, or a total of 28,805. If to the 28,805 life sketches in this issue be added the 24,160 appearing in previous editions, but omitted from time to time, a grand total of 52,965 biographical sketches will be available for ready reference to possessors of a complete file of the volumes of WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA.

Each succeeding volume has presented sketches of living notabilities with such completeness and authenticity as to make it indispensable for daily reference, while the old editions become more and more valuable as records of those who have died, or who, for some other reason, have not been retained in the new edition.

WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA aims to give brief, crisp, personal sketches of the most notable living Americans in all parts of the world—the men and women whose position or achievements make them of general interest. It tells just the things every intelligent person wants to know about those who are most conspicuous in every reputable walk of life—birthplace, age, parentage, education, college or university degrees, occupation, position, achievements, politics, societies, clubs, marriages, etc.—in fact, the chief features of each career, without eulogy or criticism.

It should be borne in mind, however, that the names in WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA have been selected not as the best but as an attempt to choose the best known men and women of the country.

It is doubtless true that the fitness of every name included will not be apparent to every user of the book. The artist will expect the volume to be especially complete in the inclusion of fellow artists; the possessor of literary tastes will be disappointed if some author's name be missing; the scientist will miss names belonging to his own particular department of research. It is a fact, however, that while the standard of admission has from the first been high, there has been an unremitting effort to satisfy the reasonable expectations of those of all professions and vocations in regard to the names included. If errors have been made, they have been, in the main, on the side of liberality, with a view to making the book useful in the highest degree.

It has been the rule arbitrarily to include sketches of all officers of the Army above the rank of colonel and all officers of the Navy above the rank of captain. An exception was made in the 1918-1919 edition, on account of the World War, and colonels of the Army and captains of the Navy were also included. With publication of the edition for 1920-1921 the original rule was again adopted and sketches now appear only of officers of the Army above the rank of colonel and of officers of the Navy above the rank of captain, except for the attainment of special distinction not due alone to military or naval rank.

Suggestions for improvement, changes in biographical data, notices of deaths and changes of address as they occur, are invited.

The invitation extended in former editions for the suggestion of new names for inclusion has met with ready and cordial response. In this way many eligible names have been brought to the attention of the editor, and they were given a place in the book, provided the necessary data could be procured. But it should be understood that if a suggested name does not subsequently appear, the omission is not necessarily an indication that the name has been rejected, for there are still occasional instances of failure to respond to requests for the required facts, without which a sketch cannot be included. All sketches are prepared from first-hand material only.

The rules governing the admission of names appear on page 19, under the caption, "Qualifications for Admission."

Not a single sketch in WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA has been paid for—and none can be paid for.

According to the U. S. Census, the population of the United States in 1900, when the first edition of WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA was issued, was 75,994,000. The number of sketches in the book was 8,602—a ratio of 1 to 8,824. In other words, the name of one person out of 8,824 of the total population of the country in 1900, appeared in the book. Taking the estimated population of the United States (120,000,000) in 1928, as a basis of computation, the "WHO'S WHO" family as at present constituted—28,805 persons—represents a ratio of 1 to 4,167, or virtually one out of 4,000. Among the reasons which may be assigned for this increase of "WHO'S WHO" personnel in proportion to population are the following: 1st, sketches of many eligibles were not obtainable for the earlier editions but have gradually been acquired for the later editions; 2d, the economic structure in the country, as the years pass, has become more complex, as a result of which the principal occupations and professions have been divided into branches which call for an increased number of outstanding exponents; 3d, the declaration that this is the age of the young man is often heard, and a critical examination of sketches in this volume indicates that the saying is not without significance. The sketches show that during recent years many young men have obtained positions of responsibility formerly held by representatives of the older generation, and are therefore entitled to recognition.

The compilations of statistics pertaining to the educational advantages of the persons mentioned in WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA which appeared in the first three editions (1899-1900, 1901-1902, and 1903-1905) and subsequently in the edition for 1910-1911 (reprinted in the editions for 1916-1917 and 1918-1919) created wide-spread interest, and many requests came to the editor's desk that a similar study be made of the book, in a later and more comprehensive edition. To meet what appeared to be a general demand of the educational and scientific world, an exhaustive study was made of the 1922-1923 edition (Vol. 12), along the same lines followed in regard to the studies of the earlier editions.

The result was printed in the edition for 1924-1925 (Vol. 13), and proved to be even more interesting and instructive than the earlier tabulations. It immediately became the subject of much discussion and comment, which have continued with but slight abatement.

For the convenience of those who may wish to consult the tabulation it has been reproduced in this volume (see page 23).

It is believed that the presentation provides the most satisfactory basis for sociological investigation, and study along kindred lines, that can anywhere be found.

In this connection the following excerpt from the prefatory remarks in the initial volume of WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA may be of interest:

"This educational inquiry might, of course, be carried much farther, so as to cover even more completely, as one scientific man suggests, 'compiled statistics showing where the various people came from, and what sections and institutions had given us the most eminent men in the several lines.' It might also be found what proportion came from the country and the cities respectively (doubtless with a preponderance in favor of rural youth), while as to present residence the balance would, without question, be in favor of city and suburban homes."

This statement is equally as significant and forceful to-day as it was a quarter of a century ago. It bore timely fruit in a study entitled "The Occupation and Environment of Fathers of American Notables," by Professor Stephen S. Visher, of Indiana University, which was printed in the edition of 1924-1925, and was reprinted in the edition of 1926-27.

Practically the same field has been covered by Professor Ellsworth Huntington of Yale University and Leon F. Whitney, executive secretary of the American Eugenics Society, in "The Builders of America," a volume of more than 350 pages, based largely on a study of the 1926-1927 edition of WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA. The authors show that the average number of children in WHO'S WHO families is less than three,—too small a number, according to these authors, if the "Builders" (represented in a high degree in WHO'S WHO) are to hold their own against certain destructive and faster propagating elements of our population which threaten the overthrow of American institutions.

The demonstrated usefulness of WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA has extended to practically all classes of men and institutions, and the information which this book alone possesses makes it a practical necessity for almost every intelligent person. In educational institutions of all classes it has its recognized place, as a matter of course, and the rapidly increasing use of the book in the schoolroom is creating an interest not known before, in important personages and present-day events, and arousing a spirit of inquiry and emulation which cannot fail to prove of great practical benefit to the pupil in after life.

The best educational authorities recognize the value of high ideals, as exemplified in the lives of successful men and women, in shaping the aspirations of the growing mind. WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA is the only source to which teacher and student may turn, with assurance, for exact information pertaining to the careers of practically all of the most conspicuous living Americans. In the pages of this volume are mirrored the national life in all its various phases; the developments of science and industry; the marshaling of financial forces on a scale never before attempted; the building up of intelligence by the increasing magnificence and widening scope of educational facilities; the growing power of the Nation in military, naval and commercial strength; the development of literature and art; the ministry of the Gospel at home and abroad through American agencies; the progress and evolution of new social and political theories and potentialities. All these and other phases of American activity and progress are pictured through the life-sketches of the men and women who best represent them.

An attentive reading of this volume discloses many extraordinary examples of industry, which are overlooked in a cursory reading, but which, nevertheless, are full of valuable suggestion for the thoughtful mind. Many deeds of noble and beneficent achievement are recorded in these life-histories; and here also are chronicled thousands of activities which might be emulated with profit, not only by the youth of the country, but by all classes of American citizenship.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR ADMISSION TO WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA

The standards of admission to WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA divide the eligibles into two classes: (1) those who are selected on account of special prominence in creditable lines of effort, making them the subjects of extensive interest, inquiry or discussion in this country; and (2) those who are arbitrarily included on account of official position—civil, military, naval, religious, or educational.

The first of these two classes comprises persons who have accomplished some conspicuous achievement—something out of the ordinary, so to speak—something which distinguishes them from the vast majority of their contemporaries. This class is confined to Americans, or those who are so prominently identified with American affairs as to be the subjects of wide inquiry or discussion in the United States. Thus a few foreign actors, singers, lecturers and others are included, who, by frequent visits to America, or in some other way, have become the subjects of common American interest. Names appear of those who are broadly prominent in some special field but who are little known in their own communities. The man of great achievement may be scarcely known at all in the particular locality in which he lives. The national character is frequently he whose work is better known than himself, and it is pertinent personal information concerning such an individual that WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA aims to gather and disseminate.

The arbitrary class embraces without regard to notability or prominence in any other respect, the following: All members of Congress; members of the Cabinet; all United States judges; all governors of States, Territories and island possessions of the United States; Federal department heads; all judges of State and Territorial Courts of highest appellate jurisdiction; all American ambassadors and ministers plenipotentiary, and all ambassadors and ministers accredited to this country; all American consuls at important places in foreign countries; all living American authors of books possessing more than ephemeral interest or value—books which have received a considerable degree of recognition by the general public or which have attained wide usage by special groups or classes, such as educational groups, scientific groups, literary groups, etc.; the attorneys general of the various States; all officers of the Army above the rank of colonel, and of the Navy above the rank of captain; heads of all the larger universities and colleges; heads of the leading societies devoted to philanthropic, educational and scientific aims; members of the National Academy of Sciences, the National Academy of Design, the American Academy of Arts and Letters, the National Institute of Arts and Letters; bishops and chief ecclesiastics of all the larger religious denominations of the United States; and others who are in like manner chosen because of their official relations and affiliations.

To be sure, the majority of the names in the arbitrary classification would be admitted without hesitation even if they did not belong to the classification indicated, because of a personal record not at all dependent upon official position.

Not a single sketch in WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA has been paid for—and none can be paid for.

In the foregoing table are listed the 55 States and Territories of the United States, including Alaska, Danish West Indies—Virgin Islands (acquired in 1917), Territory of Hawaii, Porto Rico, the District of Columbia, the Philippine Islands, the Canal Zone, and 83 foreign countries or their dependencies as locations of the birth or residence of persons whose names appear in the present volume.

Of the total number of 28,805 names listed, 25,859, or 89.77 per cent, are natives of the United States; 2,682, or 9.3 per cent, are of foreign birth; 9 were born at sea, and 255 do not report as to the place of birth. For the sake of comparison, it may be stated that of persons whose names appear in the last previous edition (1926-27) 89.58 per cent were native and 9.53 per cent were foreign born.

A glance at the table shows that the older settled states, containing the centres of population, largely predominate as the birthplaces of people whose names appear in WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA. In proportion to population, the Atlantic States rank very high, while states north of the Ohio River have contributed generously to the list. New York State occupies the premier position with 3,655 names, followed by Pennsylvania, with 2,256; Massachusetts, 2,149; Ohio, 2,098; Illinois, 1,744; Indiana, 978; Iowa, 867; Missouri, 806; Wisconsin, 794; and Michigan, 780. Virginia contributes 762 names; Connecticut, 628; New Jersey, 623; Kentucky, 555; Maine, 538; Maryland, 503; Tennessee, 474; North Carolina, 440; California, 435; Minnesota, 351; Georgia, 350; New Hampshire, 333; Alabama and Vermont, each, 329; South Carolina, 324; Texas, 322; Kansas, 312; Rhode Island and Mississippi, each, 249; the District of Columbia, 219; West Virginia, 216; Oregon, 186; Nebraska, 184; Louisiana, 169; Arkansas, 147; Utah, 108. The remaining states have each less than 100 names.

As to number of residents, New York State stands first with 5,811; Massachusetts, 2,075; Illinois, 1,966; Pennsylvania, 1,818; California, 1,681; the District of Columbia, 1,489; Ohio, 1,087; New Jersey, 1,012; Connecticut, 830; Missouri, 686; Michigan, 581; Maryland, 551; Minnesota, 488; Texas, 486; Virginia, 460; Indiana, 421; Wisconsin, 403; Tennessee, 376; Iowa, 368; Georgia, 367, North Carolina, 362; Colorado, 315; Washington, 315; Kentucky, 303; Oklahoma, 268; Kansas, 260; Alabama, 249; Florida, 238; Nebraska, 232; Rhode Island, 222; Maine, 203; South Carolina, 203; New Hampshire, 191; Louisiana, 177; West Virginia, 172; Vermont, 135; South Dakota, 132; Arkansas, 128; Mississippi, 118; Montana, 108; Utah, 107.

The table shows that 28,234 have their permanent homes in the United States, while 477 reside in foreign countries, and 94 give no address. Of those living abroad, 99 have their homes in France, 61 in England, 41 in Canada, 38 in China, and 32 in Italy. These residents of foreign countries are principally representatives of the United States Government, business men temporarily abroad, and missionaries of the various churches.

Of the foreign born who have cast their lot with the United States, Canada is credited with 603; England, 499; Germany, 310; Scotland, 133; Ireland, 122; Russia, 116; Sweden, 90; France, 77; Italy, 68; Norway, 60; Austria, 57. EDUCATIONAL STATISTICS

A Study of the Educational Advantages Enjoyed by the People Listed in Who's Who in America

Based on the Edition for 1922-23

The educational advantages enjoyed by the people biographically sketched in Who's Who in America, edition by edition, have furnished a theme of widespread interest and of continuous discussion. With these facts in mind, and with regard for the studies which have been made of several previous issues of the book, it has seemed timely for the making of an up-to-date analysis of the educational equipment of the members of the "Who's Who" family with the hope of casting at least an additional ray of light on the value of education as a factor in success.

One Reason for this new analysis, made up from dependable data supplied by the leading men and women of America, is the deepening impression throughout the length and breadth of the country in favor of higher education as the determining factor in the attainment of the most desirable positions in life. This impression began showing itself to a degree that called forth comment, about ten years ago. The eagerness for higher education was further evinced by thousands of young men released from military service at the close of the World War, who, by contact with other young men, better educated than themselves, gained a new insight concerning the advantages of the trained mind. As a result, many colleges and universities became over-crowded, and recently it has been found necessary to raise the standards of admission to hold back the flood of ambitious young men and women, many of whom, it is claimed, are not of the type that could profit by higher education and therefore should confine themselves to less exacting walks of life. Whether this is true or not may depend in an important degree upon the ability of the teachers to awaken latent possibilities in their students. This is a question now being widely discussed by educators, the answer to which may determine whether registration in many of the larger institutions shall be restricted or additional facilities shall be provided.

The method pursued in making up the "Educational Statistics" presented in the first edition of Who's Who in America—twenty-five years ago—was substantially followed in each of the subsequent studies, including the present study. The form of presentation adopted for the earlier editions also has been preserved with but slight verbal variation, and of course with the substitution of the latest figures for those pertaining to previous tabulations, in order that both comparison and study of the findings may be facilitated.

The earlier statistical presentations may be found in the following issues: Vol. I, 1899-1900; Vol. II, 1901-1902; Vol. III, 1903-1905; Vol. VI, 1910-1911; Vol. X, 1918-1919.

The present investigation was made independently and without regard to the findings of previous compilations, but the tabulated results are so nearly identical, when percentages are taken into account, as to compel a conviction in favor of the dependable character of the methods pursued and results obtained in each instance. This conviction is strengthened by the fact that the edition for 1901-1902 contains 11,551 names, or 2,949 names not in the 1899-1900 edition, its immediate predecessor, which contains 8,602 names; the edition for 1903-1905 contains 14,443, or 2,892 not in the 1901-1902 edition; the edition for 1910-1911 contains 17,546, or 3,103 not in the 1903-1905 edition and the edition for 1916-17 contains 21,922 names, or 4,376 not in the 1910-1911 edition.

This investigation was based on the edition of 1922-1923 (Vol. 12). A comparison, however, of the figures in the following tabulation with those of earlier editions will disclose that the percentages of the various editions are practically the same—but with a somewhat increased tendency in favor of higher education. Nevertheless, it is still believed that if all whose sketches appear in the earlier editions had furnished as complete educational data as were furnished for later editions, the percentages would even more nearly approximate those here presented.

The edition for 1916-17 (Vol. IX) from which the figures appearing in the 1918-1919 edition were made up, contains 21,922 names, whereas the edition for 1922-1923 (Vol. 12) contains 24,278 names. It will be seen, therefore, that 2,356 more names are represented in the present investigation than in any previous computation. Also it may be stated that there are nearly three times as many names in the 1922-1923 edition as were represented in the study of the first edition published in 1899.

FURNISHING INSUFFICIENT EDUCATIONAL DATA

Privately educated ... and attending private schools	331
Self-educated	58
Furnishing no educational data	1,814
Total	2,203

In explanation of the figures, it may be stated that out of a total of 24,278 persons whose names were included in the inquiry, 2,203 furnished insufficient educational data, leaving 22,075 who furnished general educational data—college, academy, normal school, high school, common school, and as graduates of U. S. naval or military academies and technical schools of the highest rank. This number (22,075) is taken as the basis for computation of percentages. (The bases for computations in all previous editions were arrived at in a similar way.)

Careful examination of the book (1922-1923 edition) shows that it contains the names of 13,511 persons who were graduates of collegiate institutions conferring baccalaureate degrees in letters, science or philosophy. The college graduates therefore represent 61.20 per cent of the total number furnishing the required data. If graduates of the U. S. naval and military academies (544) be added to the number of college graduates and regarded as being entitled to the same classification, the number of college graduates is increased to 14,055 and the percentage becomes 63.67. The percentage based on the edition of 1916-1917 was 59.15.

The figures show that the number attending college but not graduated, was 3,022, or 13.69 per cent of those giving general educational data, and the total number of collegians, graduated and ungraduated, was 17,077, making 77.36 per cent. Practically 77 per cent of those giving general educational data attended college. The percentage on a similar basis, calculated on figures made up from the edition of 1916-1917, was 72.88.

In round numbers, 77 out of every 100 persons giving educational data, whose names appear in the 1922-1923 edition, attended college, and 64 out of every 100 were college graduates.

Academies, seminaries and secondary schools (regarded as of equal educational rank) are credited with 1,574, or 7.13 per cent of those furnishing general educational data.

Normal schools are credited with 362, or 1.64 per cent; high schools with 1,182, or 5.35 per cent, and common or grammar schools with 1,880, or 8.52 per cent.

It is interesting to note, in recapitulation, that 2 persons out of every 100 included in this tabulation completed their preliminary education in normal schools; 5 out of every 100 completed their preliminary education in high schools; 9 out of every 100 passed into active life from common or grammar schools; 7 out of every 100 attended academies, seminaries or other secondary schools; 64 out of every 100 were college graduates; and 77 out of every 100 completed their education in college.

The total number furnishing insufficient educational data (2,203) is listed in the following classifications: privately educated, 331; self-educated, 58; furnishing no educational data, 1,814.

Possibly the common schools do not rank so high in the percentage column as might be expected; but it should be borne in mind that a large majority of those attaining the highest grades of scholarship began their training in the common schools and advanced from the high school to the college, thence to engage in professional or other vocations.

The total number who attended college is 17,077; the total number who did not attend college or who failed to report educational data is 7,201. Hence it will be seen that the number attending college is over twice as large as the number not possessing such advantages.

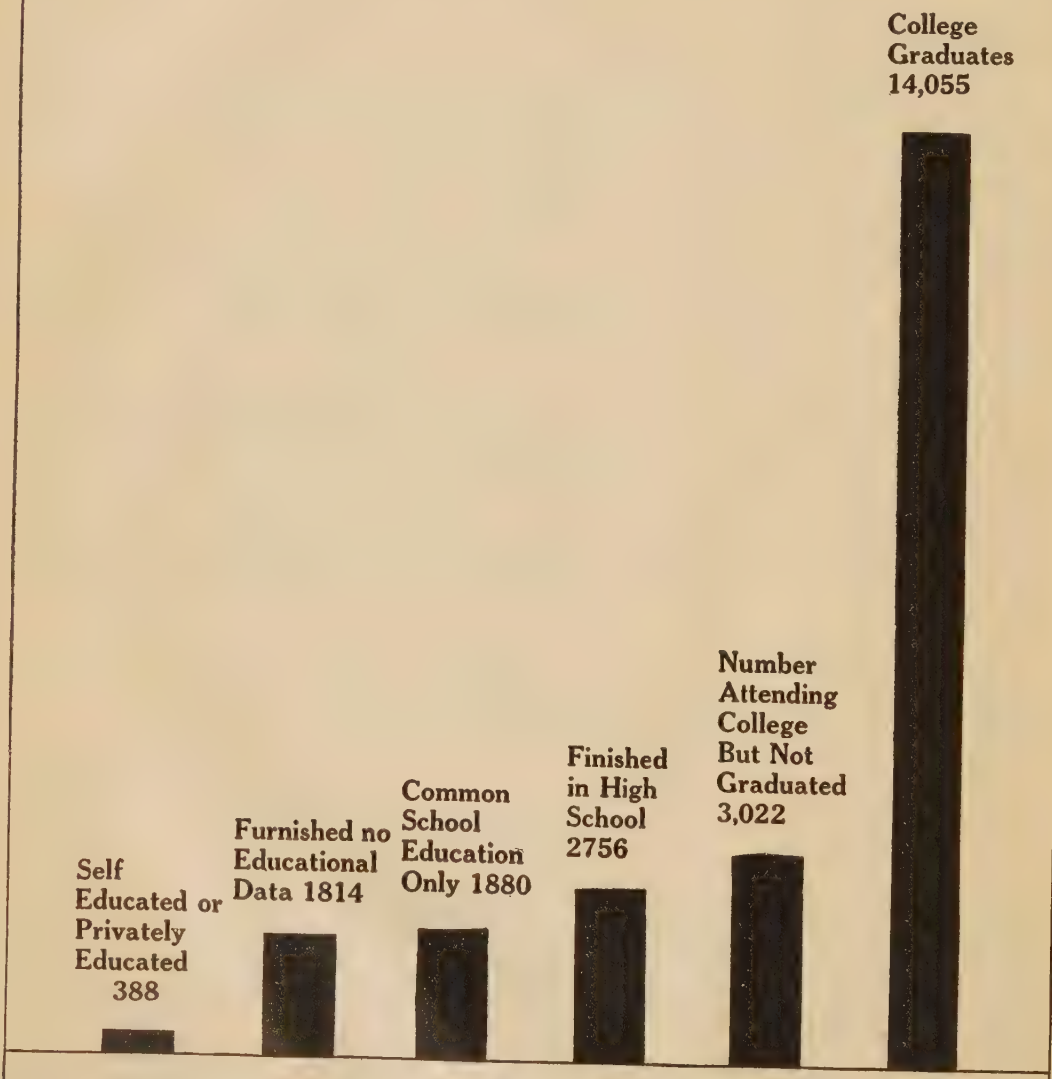
In making the tabulation no credit was given for graduation from more than one college. The baccalaureate degree, as in all previous investigations, was regarded as the maximum of education, and each collegiate institution, large or small, entitled to give baccalaureate degrees, was taken as representing a general average of education. Honorary degrees were not considered.

Educational statistics for men and women, separately computed, are given in the edition of 1903-1905 (Vol. III). The present compilation includes both sexes, no separate tabulation having been made for either men or women.

A tabulation of statistics pertaining to the preliminary education of all engaged in the leading professions, appears in the 1910-1911 edition (Vol. VI). This table shows the ratio of college graduates and non-graduates in the professions, as compared with those whose preliminary training was acquired in the common or preparatory schools. The figures also show the number who attended the professional schools and received degrees as compared with the number who entered the professions through other avenues. While the findings possess much of interest and value they were nevertheless not considered of sufficient importance to compensate for the large amount of time and effort required to make a similar investigation, and it is believed that the earlier compilation will still serve for all practical purposes. All who are interested in the subject are referred to Who's Who in America for 1910-1911.

The Value of An Education

As Shown By Who's Who In America



EDUCATION PAYS. Here is the proof: The chart illustrates at a glance the relative educational equipment of the 24,278 persons whose sketches appear in the 1922-1923 edition of Who's Who in America. College graduates numbered 14,055, or about 64 per cent of the total number whose sketches appear in the book. The significant feature of the chart is that whereas there are 14,055 college graduates named in the volume, the number reporting a common school education only is 1,880.
